

PULITZER GRADS MAKE LAST DINNER A FAMILY AFFAIR

School of Journalism Class of '22 Bars Rest of Columbia From Banquet.

"Sorry. This is a purely family affair to-night," announced the committee in charge of the farewell banquet of the class of 1922 in the Pulitzer School of Journalism when members of other schools in Columbia applied for admission to the Stockton, where the festivities took place last night.

And were the faculty members in evidence? Not conspicuously so, but it was a thoroughly nice party with three chapters—Prof. and Mrs. Walter B. Pitkin and Preston Lockwood, all of journalistic connection.

The few members of the class and a few commencement guests assembled at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. An elaborate dinner was embellished with much cocktail (fruit, of course), relish, demi-tasse, and Graham's orchestra, which played between courses.

Miss June Mott, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, welcomed the guests, and Joseph L. Jones, President of the class, presided at a final class discussion.

Then the orchestra took charge, and the rest of the evening was given over to dancing. The "Home, Sweet Home" number had unusual significance, as it was "Home, Sweet Home" of the school year of several years of scholastic endeavors, and of many friendships.

Guests were Mrs. T. E. Sullivan and her two daughters, Helen and Vivian, of Kansas City; Mrs. L. V. Weyand and her daughter, Dorothy, of Beaver, Pa.; Miss Nellie Botkin of Winchester, Ind. Former members of the class who returned for the dinner were Mrs. Jean Piper, Miss Mollie Tracy, Kenneth T. Lyon and Brodie L. Jones.

At the speakers' table were Miss Thelma Walker, Miss Norma Daniels, J. A. Fleiter, A. J. Erickson, C. A. Shamel, Robert Curry, Zilpha Caruthers, Robert Best, Maude Lyles and Gayle Waldron.

TRUCK KILLS BOY CYCLIST.

Thrown Over Handle Bars, He Falls Beneath Wheels.

Captivated over the handle bars of his bicycle when it struck a depression in the sidewalk, twelve-year-old Henry Kuth was thrown under the wheels of a motor truck and crushed to death in front of his home, No. 72 Washington Street, Hoboken, N. J., yesterday afternoon. His six-year-old cousin, Herman Jacobs, No. 16 William Street, this city, riding with him, was not hurt. Booker Green, twenty-two, No. 44 Smith Street, Port Chester, N. Y., the chauffeur, was held on a manslaughter charge, but probably will be released.

New Yorkers For A Day

American Tobacco Popular in England for "Fags" and "Gaspers."

By Roger Batchelder.

"There isn't a place in Europe that can come up to New York," declared Jack Brodnax, a tobacco grower of Greensboro, S. C., who has just returned from London after four years' service with the Royal Garrison Artillery, and who is now at the Pennsylvania. "Other cities may have attractions peculiar to nationality and location, but New York appeals to me most. Paris has long been the centre of fashion, and is still trying to maintain that position, but American women have styles right here. In London there is a very definite attempt to put the damper on night life. There is a peculiar law which allows cabarets and inns to be open on one side of the street, up to ten o'clock, for instance, while those on the other side of the street may remain open until a late hour."

Mr. Brodnax said the English were very fond of American tobacco. "About 75 per cent of the tobacco used there comes from Virginia," he remarked. "It is imported in enormous quantities, and there produced by noted English tobaccoists."

One never calls a cigarette a cigarette in England, he said in conclusion; over there they are "gaspers" or "fags."

HIGH SPOTS OF THE TOWN.

"Kansas City has one of the finest boulevard systems in this country, surpassing even that of Chicago," asserted Mrs. Raymond Wells, who is at the Astor from the "show me" State. "It also has the most beautiful new theatre in the West. I would not go so far, however, as a native son who recently declared that Kansas City was the 'garden spot of America.'"

PROPOSED TARIFF UNPOPULAR.

"There is such strong feeling against the Fordney Tariff Bill in Cuba that a big street parade was recently held as a demonstration against it," said Dr. W. Korthaus of Havana, at the Astor. "Disapproval was expressed by huge signs carried by men in the procession. The Cubans feel that if this bill goes through it will keep their sugar out of the United States through its excessive sugar tariff rates."

"During the war, when sugar sold at 23 cents a pound, the Cubans spent their money wildly. There were more jewelry stores in Havana than in any other city of its size. But just now, when there is no market for either sugar or tobacco, the people are waiting for better days to come, and many jewelry firms have failed," Dr. Korthaus said in conclusion that Cuba could buy nothing from this country until the sugar market improved and money came in.

FURTEST FROM HOME.

The "New Yorker For A Day or Two" who is farthest from home today is A. S. Traub, who is at the Astor. His home town, Cape Town, South Africa, is over 11,000 miles from Broadway.
